

Summer beckons, with its hot temperatures – but there's a Christmas mood at DOSCH DESIGN! The new product DOSCH 3D: Christmas V2 has offerings of numerous Christmas motifs

(12 June 2012) Whereas some folks have started looking forward to their summer holidays, others are already focussed on Christmas. The preparations for the production of Advent calendars or greeting cards are in full swing, online shops are already planning their Christmas program and advertising agencies are preparing campaigns and launches and advertising spots, in which it is glittering, twinkling or snowing.

For all those who are already sweating over their Christmas designs this summer, DOSCH DESIGN has launched the new product DOSCH 3D: Christmas V2. It contains numerous completely textured 3D models, with which products can be incorporated in Christmas moods and settings. Be it Christmas trees, Santa Claus, Advent wreaths, gift packages, Christmas tree balls, stars, bouquets or candlesticks– the user can create his own, tailor-made Christmas world at will with the DOSCH 3D models. They are eminently suited for illustrations, advertisements and any kind of printed material to be produced for the festival. They are available in the common 3D formats and can be edited individually. Like all products from DOSCH DESIGN, they are license-free. All the important product information can be viewed at www.doschdesign.com
